

EDUCATION & HUMAN DEVELOPMENT

Imperial County 2022

DID YOU KNOW?

The need for individuals in the teaching and human services sector continues to grow, with demand far outpacing supply. An aging workforce, attrition and turnover are key drivers of statewide shortages of preschool, elementary and secondary teachers. Several initiatives are now being employed to recruit and retain a new generation of teachers including high-retention pathways and residencies, alignment and coordination of practices preschool through third grade and beyond, mentoring programs, service scholarships, streamlined entry requirements, and most importantly, improved compensation and working conditions.
